Mitigating Environmental Impact in Hong Kong

ReThink HK is proud to be collaborating with Kadoorie Farm & Botanical Garden to fund and advance their “Wood Recycling Programme” as part of our ambition to run carbon-neutral events. The project strives to recycle wood debris generated from routine tree works through investing in a biochar machine, which converts bulky, rotten or diseased wood into valuable biochar, a soil amendment that benefits the soil and plant growth.

For 2024’s offsetting initiative, KFBG will run their biochar machine from February 2025. Each run will convert 5–6 tonnes of feedstock into approximately 1.5 tonnes of biochar, which is equivalent to approximately 3 tonnes of atmospheric carbon removed.

Within this 1.5-2-year cycle, an estimated 150 tonnes of carbon can be sequestered. The whole project complies with the “Methodology for Biochar Utilization in Soil and Non-soil Applications” published by Verra, who manages the world’s leading voluntary carbon markets program, the Verified Carbon Standard (VCS) Program.

港商研發新紙杯 可和紙張一起回收再造

行銷新意思 | 明報記者 薛偉傑

快餐店、茶飲店和小賣部普遍使用的一次式紙杯為了防水，在生產時其表面都會塗上一層塑膠淋膜，或者以浸漬處理。因此，這些一次式紙杯既難以在堆填區內自然降解，亦很難回收再造（因為必須將紙漿和塑膠淋膜分離，很少回收廠能夠處理）；此外，還有膠杯蓋的問題。

不過，本地公司 Choose Planet A Limited 已研發出一種新紙杯，可以解決上述問題。

以自然降解，也可以和普通紙張一起回收。《時代雜誌》選為 2023 年最佳發明之一。現時，這種紙杯由內地的代工廠生產。

Choose Planet A Limited 研發出可以自然降解的紙杯，並已出口外國。圖為該公司董事總經理 Cyril Drouot（右）和業務拓展經理楊善行（左）攝於 ReThink Hong Kong 展覽。

Thank you to our exceptional moderator Debra Tan for letting me nerd out about DETERMINANT's waterless dye program, and leaving us with such a harrowing statistic about ChatGPT's water consumption (one query uses 9 liters of water - so don't ask stupid questions).

On a personal note, I'm proud to be part of Hong Kong's biggest mandatory ESG report of industries. LFG!! Big shout-out to Ingram

It's a wrap! As we conclude , Hong Kong's premier sustainability expo, we passionately showcased our dedication to a nature-positive environment inspired by our Scope X™ Initiative. As the #1 Environmental Consulting Firm by Engineering News-Record, we shared the "Playbook for Nature-Positive Infrastructure Development," developed in collaboration with WWF and FIDIC - International Federation of Consulting Engineers.

With hundreds of visitors to our booth, we engaged in meaningful discussions, shared our experiences in ESG and climate advisory services and explored potential collaborations with the shared goal of advancing sustainability. We connected and engaged with a diverse range of stakeholders, each playing a crucial role in the sustainability landscape. From students eager to join the industry with fresh perspectives, to NGOs driving advocacy, startups pushing innovation and larger corporations providing scale and experience, all are equally important in the roadmap to net zero.

Our thought leaders with diverse specialties guided and delivered insightful perspectives on pivotal topics, such as the TNFD for business, green building technologies, community-centric neighborhoods planning and design, the opportunities and challenges of building the Northern Metropolis, people-centric smart mobility, and nature-positive development for sustainable growth.

Together, let's create sustainable legacies for generations to come.
